

WILL NAME WILSON AND MARSHALL AT ST. LOUIS TONIGHT

RULES COMMITTEE VOTES TO RECOMMEND CHANGE OF PRO-GRAM AT ST. LOUIS.

NO MENTION OF MEXICO

Platform Will Make No Specific Statement Concerning "Watchful Waiting."

(Associated Press)

St. Louis, June 15—The democratic convention this afternoon decided to name nominations tonight.
The body recessed at 12:30 until 9 tonight and will then remain in session until nominations are made.

The committee on resolutions will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon to receive the report of the sub-committee if it is ready.

President's Plank.

It is said the president's idea of what the plank on Americanism should be was telegraphed here last night. It virtually charged conspiracy on the part of some foreign-born citizens to influence foreign and domestic affairs and condemned all organizations which refused to repudiate any allied conspiracy.

Nothing on Mexico.

It is learned that there will be no specific mention of Mexico in the platform. The relations of the United States with southern republics will be covered in a general way in a plank dealing with foreign affairs.
The plank will declare that every nation has a right to regulate its own affairs.

Adequate protection for Americans at home and abroad will be among the pronouncements and a permanent peace tribunal will be looked upon with favor. It is said the preparedness plank will satisfy the progressives. The platform will contain unequivocal expression against war for aggrandizement.

Hoboes Present.

A delegation representing the American Organization of Hoboes appeared at the room of the sub-committee on resolutions and were heard by Senator Stone, chairman. They desired a plank declaring for "right to work," for free transportation to and from "job," for the abolition of private employment agencies and for the ballot for the migratory and unemployed, wherever they may be.

Platform Ready Tomorrow.

Stone said the draft of the platform will not be ready before tonight and probably will not be presented to the convention until tomorrow.

Sullivan Out of It.

The boom of Roger Sullivan for vice president was deflated today at a caucus of the Illinois delegation, at which time a resolution was passed that in the event Marshall ceased to be a candidate Sullivan's friends try to secure the nomination for him. Sullivan thanked the delegation and said he never had been a candidate.

DIXON FORESTERS IN DRILL AT BIG PICNIC

MANOEUVERS AT WALNUT GATH-ERING WERE FEATURES OF DAY'S OUTING

A feature of the picnic given by the M. W. A. lodge of Walnut Wednesday was the excellent drill given by the Forester team of Dixon Camp
M. W. A. For nearly an hour the Dixon men kept the large crowd intensely interested with their perfectly executed manoeuvres; and at the conclusion of the movements they were heartily applauded.

The picnic, largely attended, was a wonderful success, and the members of Walnut Camp have determined to make the outing an annual affair. A base ball game, in which Deer Grove defeated Walnut, athletic events, open air show and a dance furnished amusement for the large crowd, while an address by W.
F. Gilroy of Canton was highly entertaining.

Ogle Co. To Spend Entire Road

Appropriation On Highway

Ogle County has a proper appreciation of the value of the Lincoln Highway to that county and the Board of supervisors have signified their knowledge of this fact in a very substantial manner. They have located this year's state aid road, which will amount to about two and a quarter miles of brick highway, on the Lincoln Highway to Ogle County. The road will be located in LaFayette Township, just a mile from the south line of the County, in the township represented by Wm. Hunt, supervisor for thirty two years and one of the ablest and most influential men in Ogle. Supervisor Hunt has been campaigning in earnest for the improvement of this stretch and deserves great credit for his success, for the road to be improved by the state aid is at present one of the worst stretches of road on the Lincoln Highway east of the Mississippi River, with the exception of part of Lee County's Lincoln Way

The Ogle County State Aid Road will commence at the end of the macadam road that runs north out of Ashton and turns east at the school house on the road to Rochelle. Commencing at that point, the new brick highway will be built as far east as the appropriation will allow.

The Ogle County Board of Supervisors gave its full twenty-five votes in favor of this most progressive piece of legislation, making it unanimous.

TWO AMERICANS ARE KILLED BY BANDITS AT SAN IGNACIO, TEX

TROOPS OF U. S. CAVALRY AT-TACKED DURING NIGHT BY MEXICAN OUTLAWS.

AMERICAN NOTE IS READY

Wilson Will Flatly Refuse to Withdraw Troops Under Present Conditions.

(Associated Press)

San Antonio, June 15—Two American soldiers were killed and seven wounded in a fight with bandits near San Ignacio, an American town forty miles southwest of Laredo in an engagement which began at 2 o'clock this morning. It has been reported to Gen. Funston. Six Mexicans were killed in the battle. It is believed several of the bandits were wounded but were carried away their comrades.

The troops engaged were cavalry troops, I. and M., 140 strong and Major Gray with two troops of the 14th cavalry began the pursuit of the bandits early this morning. It is assumed he has, or will follow them across the river into Mexico.

NOTE IS READY.

Washington, June 15—Sec. Lansing today laid before the president a complete draft of the note to Carranza replying to the demand that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexico. However, unless some development forces the situation the reply will not be made until next week, at the earliest. The president is anxious to deal with Carranza in such fashion that his action cannot be attributed to domestic politics. It is understood the note will flatly decline to withdraw the troops until the de facto government has shown both its defiance and ability to police the border states.

AMERICANISM, PEACE, PREPAREDNESS AND PROSPERITY WILL BE DEMOCRATIC BATTLE CRY IN THE COMING PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Are Republicans Willing to Read Harrison and Blaine, Lincoln and Grant Out of Their Party?

In the face of this record do republicans realize that when they arraign the policy of the president of the United States today they arraign the policy of Harrison, of Blaine, of Lincoln and of Grant? For the pleasure of criticizing a democratic president, are they willing to read out of the republican party the greatest men the republican party ever had? Are they willing to say that the republican party of today condemns what Hamilton did in revolutionary days, what Lincoln did in civil war days and what Grant and Blaine and Harrison did but yesterday?

In his policy of peaceful negotiations today the president of the United States follows the example set him by the greatest presidents the democratic party and the greatest presidents the republican party ever gave this nation.

Do the critics of the present administration believe that Lincoln should have risked national disaster by using the sword rather than the pen in pressing the Alabama claims? Are they willing to brand Grant as a coward because he kept us at peace with Spain?

Yet no incident of the present war shows so gross a violation of our neutral rights as England's action in building a navy to prey upon our commerce, no submarine attack surpasses in horror the butchery of American citizens by that Spanish firing squad in Santiago when Grant was in the presidential chair.

In this as in all other big questions of life the more we understand the past, the better we shall judge the present. Where it took 10 years to secure inadequate compensation for the Alabama claim, the present administration has already secured in the case of a single claimant, reparation greater than all the Alabama claims combined. Where, in other administrations during great foreign wars, the American flag was merely an invitation to plunder, today that flag is the best protection of all who desire to be safe upon the seas.

Where Washington vainly pleaded for recognition of our neutral rights, where Jefferson sought in vain to protect our shipping, where Lincoln failed to gain us the freedom of the seas, the man who now sits in the presidential chair has secured from every warring power, from every empire under the sun, the formal and definite assurance that the neutral rights of Americans shall be respected and observed.

We challenge our critics to deny a single fact in the record. We defy them to show a single point at which the helmsman who has safely piloted us through Europe's storm has departed from the course laid down by those who established America's foreign policy.

The Declaration of Independence confirms the Policy of Negotiation. "To maintain our national honor by peace if we can, by war if we must" is the motto of the president of the United States.

But before submitting to chance and misery of war, true statesman that he is, he proposes to put the reason and justice of negotiation to the test. If they are as patriotic as they pretend those who censure this policy of negotiation may blush from shame to learn that they censure the policy pursued by the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

In the document which made us free John Hancock and Benjamin Franklin and Charles Carroll and all the other signers declare "I quote his heart and careless of whether or not the world reads it in his face, neither whistles to deceive his neighbors nor publishes his patriotism to win the Pharisee's crown of self-praise."

These noisy critics forget that an appreciation of honor is as elemental in every man as the instinct which calls the flush of rage to the cheek, or the blaze of anger to the eye. When the honor of this country is outraged or the glory of its flag is smirched the man on the street, the toiler in the field, the artisan in the shop, the man who shoulders his musket and marches away at his country's call will need no one to tell him, no one to show him where duty lies and manhood calls. The men who will do the fighting will not have to be drummed to war—they will summon themselves to battle with the valor of a Jackson or the ardor of a Wayne.

Preparedness. The genius of this country is for peace. Compared with the blood-smear pages of Europe our records are almost immaculate. In the making of no other nation has conquest played so small a part. Stolen wealth does not fill our coffers or ravished territory swell our domains.

We have built our greatness on the resources of nature and the peaceful toil of our people. The ring of the anvil, not the rattle of the saber, the song of the reaper, not the shriek of the soldier, the clatter of the shuttle, not the crack of the rifle have won us the place we occupy today in the councils of the world.

With us war has never been a choice, it has always been a fate. We would like to turn the flags of war and still its throbbing drums; we wish for the day when men will beat their swords into plowshares, their spears into pruning hooks; but we recognize that the miracle is yet to be performed—the miracle which perfects human nature and American people might be misunder-stoods. Efforts have been made and may be made again to create an impression here and abroad that in asserting these principles the president spoke for only a fraction of the American people, that the nation itself was divided, and that the president's solemn words could be disregarded because the American people would not stand solidly behind him.

This convention must make it plain that all divisions among the American people stop at the ocean's edge. This convention must declare and must give the country the means to declare that when the president of the United States speaks to a foreign power, he speaks for every citizen of America; that the nation's chief executive asserts a policy that has been an American policy since the beginning of the nation, his action has behind it the force and strength of a loyal and united people.

We, who know and love America, know how false, how vain, how unreal, are the efforts of those who picture us to the world as divided against ourselves. We know that so far as our international relations are concerned we hold but one faith, acknowledge but one loyalty, follow but one flag.

We of this convention, representing every section of the United States, speaking for every racial strain in America, must send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt.

We must enable every real American to stand up and assert his Americanism. We must make the issue so clear that every ballot box in the land may become a monument to the loyalty of American manhood.

The citizens of this country will stand behind the president because his policies are right. They will stand behind him because his policies are the policies which have brought the nation a century of prosperity and honored peace. They will stand behind him because they want these policies continued, that prosperity prolonged, that peace assured.

Yet, over and above every other reason that the nation may have for upholding its president is the necessity of proving to the world that we are a united people.

So long as the other nations of the earth realize that the millions under America's flag think as one, believe as one and act as one in the face of foreign war, we shall be free from foreign intrigue, and all that it entails. Once let the notion get abroad that this nation is merely a confederacy of diverse and conflicting allegiances and we shall never be safe from the machinations of foreign powers.

A regard for national surety as well as a pride of personal honor will therefore bring the American people to the support of their president. Whether their blood is drawn from the banks of the Rhine, or where the River Shannon flows, whether they hail from Alpine valleys or the meadows of the Pyrenees, whether their scene be German or French, Irish or English, Austrian or Italian, Russian or Greek, the men who have sworn an oath of fealty to the ideals of America will be true.

They may love the lands of their fathers much, but they love the land of their children more. They may cherish the memory of the sod from which they sprang, but they stand ready to die for the soil they have inherited with their homes.

Their loyalty to America is more than loyalty to a name; their allegiance is more than allegiance to a flag. The man who serves America serves only the best in himself. The man who is loyal to America is loyal to the noblest of humanity's ideals. The man who swears allegiance to America enrolls himself in the ranks of those who are pledged to freedom, to opportunity, to justice and to human progress.

High above every other issue that this convention offers to the American people we must therefore write a vindication of American loyalty. Secure in our conviction that America comes first with every American, confident that the great warm heart of the republic beats true and strong, convinced that the stars of the heavens are not more firmly fixed in the firmament than the stars of America's flag are enshrined in the hearts of America's citizens, we must call upon our countrymen to show their devotion and their loyalty not to a democratic president, but to the president of the United States.

Domestic Policies. It is more than coincidence that an administration which has steadfastly maintained the peace and honor of the nation, should have sought with equal energy and equal success the internal progress and domestic prosperity which is the natural product of tranquility and fair dealing.

It is not surprising that an administration which has jealously guarded the national rights of the United States should have cherished with equal zeal the individual rights of its citizens. It is natural that an administration which has stoutly asserted the ancient freedom of our commerce on the seas should have labored with equal sincerity for the new freedom of opportunity on America's soil.

Four years ago the people of this country entrusted their government to a man who promised that they would liberate the nation from chains of industrial tyranny, who pledged themselves to break down the barriers behind which special privileges sat entrenched; who engaged themselves to emancipate business, to throw wide the gates of lawful enterprise, to restore to the men and women of America the paths of progress which had been choked and blocked by long years of invisible government.

That promise has been kept; that pledge has been redeemed. Today the prosperity which the nation enjoys bears witness that democracy has kept the faith. Today the gates of opportunity are open; the hosts of special privilege stand disarmed. Today the forces of government are encouraging, not blocking the full expression of the nation's progress. Today the business man, the artisan and farmer find themselves free to enjoy the fruits of their labors, unhampered by the sinister power of special privilege or the selfish oppression of "invisible government."

To attempt to describe the myriad ways in which this new spirit of government has found expression would necessitate a review of every national activity, a compendium of every department of the national government. We must content ourselves here with a brief consideration of the great landmarks which chart the change from government for the fortunate few to an even-handed government in the interest of all.

Federal Reserve Act. The first of these is the Federal reserve act which freed the business man and the farmer from the financial domination of the money changers and lifted the menace of panic from our industrial life.

Five times during the past thirty years, at periods when industry was flourishing and crops were abundant, the purse strings of the country have tightened without apparent reason and the nation has been devastated by panics.

Business men had seen the patient work of years swept away in a night. Farmers had watched their homes sold over their heads. The widow and the orphan, the fire-woman and the mechanic had found themselves defrauded of their pittance as they bent upon the closed doors of insolvent banks. Paralysis had fallen upon the nation's industries. Armies of the unemployed had marched from factory to factory begging for work. Bread lines and soup kitchens had sprung up in every city of the land and within their financial fortresses the few who brought about this universal misery watched their work and counted their gains.

Throwing down the gauntlet to those who had fattened on the system that made these evils possible, the democratic administration passed the Federal reserve act.

The safety, the simplicity, the effectiveness of the Federal reserve act constitute a terrible indictment of the republican administrations which had permitted panics to continue with out adopting it.

In the panic of 1907, under the old system New York could not lend a country bank $50,000 with which to meet factory pay-rolls; in 1915 under the new system, inaugurated by this democratic administration, New York loaned Europe five hundred millions even though the financial centers of the world were distracted by the world war, and there were still left in New York the largest bank deposit in its history.

If this democratic administration had performed no other public service than the enactment of the Federal reserve act, it would deserve the unstinted approval of a grateful nation. Thanks to democracy and to democracy's great leader, the business man who is struggling to establish himself may now work out his destiny without living in terror of paucity and hard times. The toiler in the factory may ply his tasks in security, knowing that his employer's business is safe from assault. The farmer who must borrow to move his crops may do so without spending his days in anxiety, his nights in nightmares of foreclosure and disaster. Truly the scholar-statesman, whose rod has struck the golden rock of America's resources, to set free the wealth imprisoned for half a century, is a Moses who has led America's industries from the wilderness of doubt and despair to the promised land of prosperity and hope.

Beneficent Legislation. In the same spirit and with the same motive that inspired the Federal Reserve Act this administration has devoted itself to the stimulation of American industry, agriculture and trade through all the agencies of government.

It has given a new meaning and a new force to the laws restraining big business from stifling competition.

It has created a trade commission to afford to business generally a more direct and prompt administration of the laws relating to business.

It has established government representatives throughout the world, whose sole duty is to foster the expansion of American trade.

It has created a closer union of economic, commercial and financial interests between the United States and the nations of South America.

It has declared in language that no court and no employer can misunderstand that "the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce" and that no employer can compel his men to work for him against his will.

It has freed the farmer from the chains of a financial system which was devised for business and not for farming and has enabled him to sell his produce at prices that compensate him for the sweat of the harvest, the tilling of the soil.

St. Mary's Exercises

In the program given by the pupils of St. Mary's parochial school in its closing exercises Tuesday evening at the Family Theatre, every number from the opening song—The Star Spangled Banner, sung by all grades from the Fourth to the Eighth—until the closing song, America, by the whole school, was well rendered and received hearty applause from an appreciative audience of parents and friends. Philip Reilly had the program in charge and made an interesting opening address and aptly introduced each participant on the program.

The readings given by Helen Klein, Michael Allen, Vivian McIntyre, Marian Cahill, and Hubert Hersam, displayed the excellent training received as well as individual talent. The Fairy Bells, a song and drill by tiny tots, received long and well-merited applause. The song, Summer is Coming, by the Third and Fourth Grades was also very prettily rendered. The other musical numbers—the sweet solo, "How I Love a Summer Day," by Miss Mary Mahon; the duet, Memories, by Thomas Curran and John Burke; My Wild Irish Rose, Paul Reilly and the Misses Ethel Gorham and Bessie Denay; Miss Fagan's Song; the chorus, Wake Up, America, and the solo by Mr. Reilly, My Mother's Rosary—formed delightful parts of the program and were heartily applauded. Miss Ethel Gorham, Raymond Curran and Mary Hogan were the able accompanists.

An address given by a former graduate of the Dixon high school in the Class of 1916, Eugene Cahill, on "Good Citizenship," was particularly able and showed much oratorical talent.

Fourteen ladies were guests, bringing with them their fancy work, and enjoying a pleasant afternoon over their needle work. Instrumental solos were given by Misses Mabel Griese and Mabel Krug. Dainty refreshments—cream and cake—were served by the hostess. Sweet clover and pink and white peonies formed the attractive decorations.

HUGHES' VIEWS ON PUBLIC QUESTIONS.

In speeches and interviews during his public career Justice Charles E. Hughes has expressed the following views on public questions:

"Whatever may be the conception of the opportunities for leadership afforded by executive office or of the high prerogative of those people to make the laws of a free people, we must rest our final confidence for the perpetuity of our institutions upon an impartial, able, unselfish administration of justice by our courts."

"The American people will not tolerate tyranny, whether in a government or in a friend. There is no difference at bottom between tyranny of the government and tyranny of the individual."

"There is no incompatibility between vigorous state administration looking after its own affairs and strong national administration dealing with national questions and supervision by strict and adequate regulation of interstate commerce. Both are essential, and in the proportion that people insist upon efficient and responsible administration of local affairs are they likely to secure a proper and responsible exercise of federal authority whatever its necessary extent within its constitutional sphere."

"What we need is a revival of the sense of honor. We want to hear less of the man who began poor and amassed riches, and more of the man who lived unsullied though he died poor. Let every man who has amassed wealth or gained office be ready to show a clear balance sheet, and if he got it, answer to 'Where did he get it?'"

"There must be no alliance between those in charge of the administration and those in charge of the special interests. In heads of departments we desire the very best to be had. We desire it to be well understood that the only question to be considered when a decision is to be made is 'Is it fair? Is it right? Will it make for the prosperity of the state?'"

"We cannot look to war for the development of either national or individual character. The heroics of war have been placed by mathematical calculations. If it was ever anything else, it is now unmitigated horror, exhibiting chiefly fiendish aspects of human ingenuity and scientific skill in destruction."

"Political leaders who have performed the function of clearing houses for legislation and who, while posing as party workers, have served under a retainer of special interests, careless alike to party principles or of party justice, are passing from the stage."

"My idea of a representative of the people is a man who thinks, who is willing to listen to the clear voice of the people, but who will act intelligently. What we want is single-mindedness in the exercise of governmental powers."

"This country will never be great nor realize the ideals we profess unless we count public service to the state far greater than the amassing of wealth or any private gain."

"I have steadfastly sought two things: First, absolute abstention from any effort to create or foster factional disturbance; second, in no event to use executive power to further personal aims."

"I desire to see our parties free, having themselves not in the control of a few but representing the sentiment of their voting strength in the selection of candidates for office."

"The people of this country are absolutely tired of having public offices and public business used as a means for personal reward, or making a great camp, so that one party may fight another on election day."

"Give the party voters a chance to nominate the party candidates. Transfer the power in no uncertain way to the party members; make them final arbiters of party nominations."

"The interests of industry are not the interests of a class, but of all the people. What the rich man feels in the reduction in the value of the securities; what those dependent upon returns from investments feel in the impairment of their income, the wage-earner feels still more acutely as business contracts and the loss of employment confronts him with starvation."

"If we are to have contented communities and be free from disorder we must stop extravagance and careless expenditure and have the public business properly transacted."

"I want to see the illicit efforts of the privileged frustrated, bribery and corrupt arrangements destroyed and the market places where governmental favor has been bought and sold converted into true assemblies of honest representatives of the people."

"Political corruption is not partisan. It is the common enemy. The essential operations of government inevitably furnish opportunities for sound realism, and against this course all parties and the people as a whole must wage an unrelenting war."

Daddy's Bedtime

Story—

A Nightingale Gets a New Plaything.

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

SOON as Jack and Evelyn had finished their bread and jam daddy told them: "Once upon a time a little nightingale sang beautifully for the emperor of China. It sang so well that the whole court talked about it. When two people met one would say 'Night' and the other would say 'Gale.' Then they would sigh and understand each other perfectly. Eleven different cheesemongers named their babies after it, but none of them grew up with a beautiful singing voice."

"One day a large package came for the emperor. On it was written 'Nightingale.' 'Somebody has sent me a book about my celebrated bird,' said the emperor. But it was no book. It was a little work of art in a box, a make believe nightingale exactly like the living one, except that its body was studded all over with diamonds, rubies and sapphires."

"When the bird was wound up, just like Jack's beetle, it could sing one of the songs the real one sang. And it could wag its tail, which glittered with silver and gold. Around its neck it wore a ribbon which said, 'The emperor of Japan's nightingale is very poor compared to the emperor of China's.'"

"Everybody said, 'Oh, how beautiful!' and the man who brought the artificial bird was at once given the title of imperial nightingale carrier in chief. Then the birds had to sing together, but they did not get on very well. The real nightingale sang as it felt, while the make believe one could sing only a waltz."

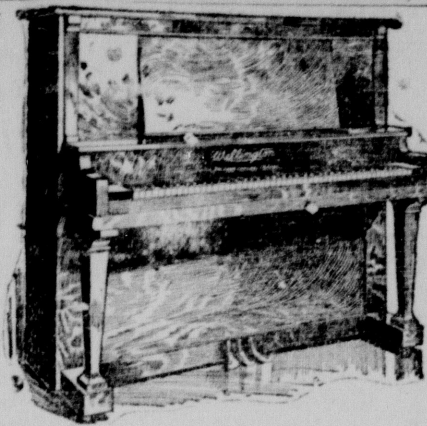

"There is no fault in that," said the music master. "The waltz is in perfect time."

"Then the make believe nightingale had to sing alone. It was just as great a success as the real one, people thought, and, besides, it glittered like bracelets and breastpins. It sang the same waltz thirty-three times and yet was not tired. The court would gladly have heard it again, but the emperor said the real nightingale must have a turn now. But where was it? Nobody had seen it fly out of the open window back to its own green woods."

"We have got the best bird, though," said a courtier. So the make believe bird had to sing the thirty-fourth time. But even then no one knew the song well because it was so hard to remember. The music master praised the make believe bird and said it was better than the real one because it sparkled both inside and out."

It Sang the Waltz Thirty-three Times.

PEOPLES COLUMN

TURN CLOCKS AHEAD

The Telegraph is in receipt of a communication advocating the European plan of turning the clocks ahead one hour in the summer time, so that the working day starts one hour earlier in the morning and closes an hour earlier at night, giving the workers of the land an hour more of leisure during the evening and "saving" an hour of daylight, thereby cutting down light bills. The plan is officially recognized by Germany and some other European governments and is said to be in practice to some extent in this country. We believe the plan to be a good one. The early summer morning is the best time of the day to work and the late afternoon could well be devoted to recreation rather than work. The communication follows:

Dixon Evening Telegraph, Dixon, Illinois.

Editor: Knowing that you are always in favor of doing things for the welfare of the city, I would suggest that you enumerate in detail in your paper the benefits of a plan to move the clocks of the city one hour ahead during the summer months and to open a bureau in connection with our paper to receive public suggestions on this plan. This plan is being adopted by a few large stores in other cities and is a very practical plan or employes everywhere. Why not explain this plan to readers of your paper and see if sentiment would not favor the plan?

I Have a 3400 r. p. m Ready This Minute For You

This certainly is a great year for selling cars. Most everybody has had success. Some more than others, as is always the case.

Chalmers sales are running 900 per cent ahead of last year all over the United States. Mr. Chalmers' foresight in doubly providing against a shortage of materials has won a great contest.

It has enabled the Chalmers plant to keep on building cars when one or two have shut down or others have had to cut down on allotments to their dealers.

Here it is June and the great Chalmers plant is running day and night, three shifts, turning out more cars than ever before.

How long can Chalmers keep filling the demand?

I don't know. I know only this: the plant is turning out about 125 a day; Chalmers dealers are selling about 425 a day.

The only reason I or any other dealer can supply a car now is because during December, January and February the Chalmers plant worked day and night like Trojans and built about 125 cars a day when the dealers were selling probably only about 80. Soon these 425-a-day sales are going to eat up the surplus made during the Winter months.

I got a letter a few days ago from the Chalmers plant which simply said: "We have on hand orders asking for immediate shipment of cars whose value is in excess of $8,000,000."

I need not narrate the rest of the note which was so obviously subtle that I got the telegraph operators on the job right off.

I'm making my promises on delivery from day to day. I've got cars or can get them now. This may not hold good tomorrow.

Next week I shall cut my promises down still more. Remember, there are only two things that I concern myself with these days. One is to get you to take one ride in a 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers if you have not done so already. That's all I want. The car speaks in a language you'll understand.

The other thing is simply one of mathematics: If the Chalmers factory can turn out 125 cars a day and Chalmers dealers all over the United States are selling 425 a day, how long will the supply last?

Price still unchanged—$1090 Detroit.

PEACE, PREPAREDNESS

erate all the laws, all the activities which will establish this administration in our economic history as the most humane since Lincoln's and the most progressive since Jefferson's.

The Tariff

But I cannot close this brief and inadequate review of what the present administration has accomplished without adverting to its courageous and statesmanlike solution of the nation's tariff problem.

The Underwood tariff enacted by this administration has banished greed from the gates of our ports and written justice into our tariff schedules.

Of all the tariffs we ever enacted this is the fairest and the best.

Until the foreign war reduced importations no new tariff was ever more satisfactory. The highest protective tariff ever written would probably have given us no more revenue during this European war and a higher tariff on raw material would have hampered our manufacturers, a higher tariff on the necessities of life would have placed a woe-ful burden on the poor man in the conditions which the war abroad has brought about.

By the Underwood law this administration has taken the tariff out of politics; by the new Tariff Commission it proposes to take politics out of the tariff.

The consumers of the nation, and this means every man, woman and child within its borders, have been freed from an unique and oppressive system which enriched the few at the expense of the many.

It is not my purpose to discuss the assaults that special privileges have made upon the provisions of the Underwood Act. These selfish and unfounded criticisms have been completely answered by the one who is amply competent to judge and public-spirited enough to speak. Democracy's reply to those who would overthrow the tariff law that a Democratic Congress has enacted is the reply of that eminent banker, that financial genius, Mr. Jacob H. Schiff.

Speaking at a banquet of the Republican Club in New York last January, by virtue of his life-long allegiance to the Republican party Mr. Schiff declared:

"I want to explain that nothing can stop the great prosperity we now have except a renewal of tariff agitation in the next campaign. Standing here on holy Republican ground I say without fear or favor if you renew in the next Presidential campaign the tariff agitation of the past if you threaten the country and show you want a renewal of special privilege and high protection, the people will have none of it. The people have learned; the workmen and the farmers have learned and cannot be misled any longer. I do not say that because I love the Republican party, but my common sense more. My heart is for the Republican party, but my common sense makes me a Democrat."

And in these words Mr. Schiff voices the opinions of men with whom special interest is secondary to the welfare of all.

Prosperity

Under the present administration the United States has enjoyed a wonderful era of good business and good times. Today Prosperity shines from blazing furnaces and glowing forges. It echoes from busy docks and from thronged emporiums of trade. Its message of plenty fills the land with the chant of the spindle and of loom, lifting the mortgage from the poor man's home and promising his children a future that seemed impossible before.

During the past four years this country has experienced a steady and continuous improvement in business. Wealth has increased 21 per cent, the value of manufactured products 39 per cent, and exports 77 per cent. The flood-tide of our prosperity has risen to such an unprecedented height that the only limit to trade is our inability to make and transport the commodities demanded at home and abroad. Our fields and our factories cry aloud for men and unemployment has ceased to be a problem. Wages have advanced, building operations have resumed, real estate has recovered its worth.

There is not an idle car on our railroads or an idle ship at our docks. For the first time in history America's greatest port has become the world's greatest port. Economists say that railroad earnings are an index to prosperity. This year the earnings of our railroads under the last year of Republican rule are sixty million dollars more than last year.

The purchasing power of our people is greater than that of any other people on the globe. Never was there as much money in our vaults as to-day. The aggregate resources of our national banks are three hundred millions more than the aggregate resources of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Russia, the Reichbank of Germany, the Swiss National Bank and the Bank of Japan. We have four hundred and one millions of money more than we had a year and a half ago and our gold supply exceeds by many hundreds of millions the gold supply of any other nation on earth.

Our prosperity is not local. The cotton fields of the South, the factories of the North, the farms of the East, and the mines of the West feel it—with a national response and a national thrill.

Nowhere else on earth is there a more equitable distribution of what the energy of labor hammers into capital places in its hand.

The calamity howler complains that our productive capacity is keyed to such a high pitch that our industrial machine is threatened with heated bearings, but he ignores the self-oiling attachments which this Democratic administration has attached to our economic and industrial mechanism. While calamity waiters talk of the struggle and the battle which is to come after the war, earnest men of business, with America in their minds and America in their hearts, act on the principle that the better we serve our country and ourselves in the present the better we prepare for the future.

The prosperity of today is a true prosperity, for it is founded on a true balance between agriculture, manufacturing and commerce. Ask the first man you meet how many of his friends are employed in munitions factories! Ask the bankers you know how many of their accounts are munitions makers' accounts! Their answer will show what a trivial figure war orders play in our business to-day.

Under this Democratic administration a record-breaking balance of trade stands in our favor. In the last nine months our exports exceeded our imports by one billion dollars. In all the history of all the nations in all the ages no country has ever enjoyed such a gigantic balance of trade. Its figures almost defy comprehension. During all the years of Republican rule our export trade never reached $300,000,000 in any one month. Last March it reached $410,000,000. If this rate should continue for a year we will have approximately a yearly export business of five billion dollars.

This is unparalleled in the annals of commerce. Hitherto England has been the greatest of exporting countries. But her best year is two billions less than our present year.

This avalanche of money poured into our pockets by the rest of the world as a tribute to our national resources and our fidelity to peaceful industry is not the measure of our prosperity. It is only the symbol. Compared with our trade at home our foreign trade is a mere pittance. Our domestic commerce to-day is larger than the foreign commerce of all the nations of the world combined.

Against this actual condition our opponents raise an argument of "ifs." With greater truth we can also enter the realm of conjecture and declare that if another candidate had been elected four years ago, the United States would be at war today. A ton of "ifs" do not weigh as much as a single fact. Our opponents forget that "if" the flight of the sea-gulls off the coast of the West Indies had not directed his course, Columbus would not have discovered America when he did. But the sea-gulls were there—"ifs" cannot banish them—and Columbus found our land.

So, today, the figures are here, the work is here, the business is here, the money is here, to prove our prosperity under Democratic rule, and all the "ifs" in all the languages cannot alter the situation.

Measured by every possible standard—by the volume of exports and imports, by the expansion of domestic trade, by the condition of labor, by the rate of wages, by the size of bank deposits and clearing house returns, by the balance of trade or by the amount of gold in the country, by any and all of these standards, this country to-day is enjoying prosperity such as no other country has ever enjoyed before.

The Man

Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity—these are the issues upon which the Democratic party stands, and the heart of Democracy swells with pride that is more than a pride of party, as it hails the man who has asserted this Americanism, assured this peace, advocated this preparedness and produced this prosperity.

The man who is President of the United States to-day has measured up to the best traditions of a great office.

He has been wise with a wisdom that is steeped in the traditions of his country, with a wisdom that has been disciplined by training and broadened by instruction.

He has been prudent with the prudence of one who has within his hands the destiny of a hundred million people.

He has been firm with the firmness that proceeds from deep conviction, with the firmness that is grounded in a duty well defined.

He has been courageous with the courage that places country above self, with the courage that follows duty wherever it may lead.

He has been dignified with the dignity that is self-forgetting and self-respecting, with the dignity that conserves the majesty of the greatest office in the world.

He has been patient with the patience which believes and trusts that truth crushed to earth will rise again, with the patience that can endure and wait, watch and pray, for the certain vindication of justice, humanity and right.

He has been patriotic with the patriotism that has never wavered, a patriotism that is as pure and strong as the faith that moved the fathers when they made our country free.

No President since the Civil war has had as crucial problems to solve; and no President has displayed a grasp more sure, a statesmanship more profound. Assailed by the wolves of privilege he has pulled their claws and drawn their teeth.

Assaulted by partisan envy he has shamed his traducers into silence and has made friend and foe go forward together into the paths of national progress.

He has fired our patriotism with a new ardor; he has breathed into our ancient traditions a new vigor and a new life.

He has added strength to America's courage and mingled mercy with America's strength.

He has fastened the brakes of justice upon the wheels of power; he has lifted the mists from the temple where our liberties are enshrined.

And when the history of these days comes to be written, and the children of to-morrow read their nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconception, and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict, one name will shine in golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

That name will be the name of the great President who has made Democracy proud that he is a Democrat, and made America proud that he is an American.

It will be the name of the student and the scholar who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the statesman who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet aspired; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again; the name of Woodrow Wilson, President and President to be.

Rutgers Honors Chicagoan. New Brunswick, N. J., June 15.—At the 150th annual commencement exercises of Rutgers college the honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Dr. Graham Taylor, president of the Chicago school of civics and philanthropy.

The Economy in Time, Labor, Money, Every Housewife Needs

You can hardly overestimate the great economy a Kitchen Cabinet will bring to your home—the economy in time, labor, money—in the miles of steps it saves you. A million and more women are using these cabinets in this country now. The spotless white cupboards are big and roomy. The utensil tray and deep drawers save time. The flour bin is convenient and saves high lifting strains. There are food guides, a calendar, pencil holder and scores of little things that make for greater convenience. The new prices are so low that no matter how little your income, you undoubtedly can afford a Kitchen Cabinet now. You run no risk of flimsy or cheap construction. "Lifetime" standard is maintained in spite of the extremely low prices. Come in and look them over and you will surely be delighted.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

Has Good Record. Another youth in the North Dixon high school with an excellent attendance record is Robert Knox, who has not missed a day in the past two years, and has never, during his school career, been tardy.

To Kansas. Mr. and Mrs. James H. Robins left this morning for Leavenworth and Kansas City, Kas., where they will visit friends for the week.

Returned from Chicago. Mrs. J. F. Hausen has returned from Chicago, where she spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. F. H. Fleming.

St. James' Aid. A most pleasant meeting of the Young People's Aid Society of the St. James Lutheran church was held yesterday with Mrs. Clara Buckman, with twenty-eight members and guests of the society present. A program of music and readings was enjoyed, followed by games and contests, and the serving of very enjoyable refreshments by the hostesses.

The program follows: Scripture Reading, St. John, 14; Miss Margaret Patterson. Trio, Piano and two violins; Misses Myrtle and Hazel Whitebread and Grace Bothe.

Vocal Solo; Mrs. Hubert Bahen. Instrumental Solo; Mrs. Bahen. Reading, Miss Bertha Bothe. A potato race and a traveling contest indulged in after the program created much amusement. Two snapshots were taken by Miss Buckman of the group, which promise to be unusually interesting.

During the business session two new members, Mrs. Lindeman and Miss Alta Naylor, were added to the society making a membership of twenty.

The guests of the society at this meeting included: Mrs. Mathias of Dixon; Miss Miller, Mrs. Henry Bothe and children, Miss Alta Naylor, and Mrs. Oddy.

The next meeting will be held within a month with Miss Alice Lindeman.

For Mrs. Grant

The club luncheon of the Smackin Club was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Grant, and celebrated her birthday. The piece de resistance of the luncheon was a delicious strawberry shortcake, made by Mrs. M. D. Grimes, who has particular talent in turning out the most delectable shortcakes. Cards during the afternoon and a theatre party at The Family formed the diversions. As a special honor to Mrs. Grant, the following poem, written by one of the members, was read at the close of the luncheon.

Our Emma was born in Dixon Quite a number of years ago, It hardly seems to us that long, But really it is so. She grew to be a real sweet child, From there to womanhood, And married the only man she loved, As every woman should. We're glad she never moved away, And that we have her here; Her friends are many, far and wide, For she is kind and dear. The anniversary of her birth We celebrate today, With a splendid lot of things to eat, Served in the usual way. We all sincerely hope she'll have So many birthdays more, That they may reach the top-most notch, And be at least five score.

CORROBORATIONOf Interest to Dixon Readers

For months Dixon citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Dixon residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Dixon reader.

B. A. Worley, blacksmith, Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "The action of my kidneys was irregular and annoying and my back ached after using Doan's Kidney Pills, the pains left my back and my kidneys became regular in action." (Statement given May 21, 1912.)

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Worley said: "Whenever my back gets lame and sore and I need a kidney medicine, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. They give me relief." Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Worley has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Red Selvage

When you see a Red Selvage on a piece of Wire Cloth—whether painted or galvanized—you may be sure it's the best that can be had. The Red Selvage is a trade mark devised and adopted by REYNOLDS WIRE CO., whose cloth is made here in Dixon and than which there is no better.

In our show window is an interesting exhibit of REYNOLD'S DIXON WIRE CLOTH. Wire in the roll is shown from 6 inches wide up to 6 feet wide.
A roll is shown as it comes from the annealing furnace ready for painting and a roll cleaned and ready for 10 coats of galvanizing which is given the celebrated "Alumina" brand.
